Commencement is supposed to mean the "beginning." We, as members of the first class to go four years at North High School, know that it also means the "end"—of four happy and rewarding years.

Confusion and shyness plagued us as freshmen. As sophomores we were "know-it-alls," thoroughly adjusted to our new way of life. As juniors we were fiercely loyal to North, our second "home." Then, all too quickly, we were seniors.

This year was filled with magic and wonderful memories, and, like all good things, it came to an end. Our short span of years was but the beginning of what promises to be a long succession of four-year spans for those who come after us.

Still, it is with a sigh of reluctance that we give up our places to those who follow us. And they, like us, one day will have happy memories of their stay here at North. We will all remember. . . .

---Seeing North Expand In Many Fields,

Educational TV classes met in the auditorium this year, changing from their original place in the cafeteria. Here we learned lessons through this fascinating media to which we were inaugurated in our junior year.

Hammering, sawing, planning, building: will it ever be finished? This seemed to be the question when North opened its doors for the first time. Pupils and teachers stumbled through unfinished gyms, stared dejectedly at the skeleton of an auditorium, and wondered how soon rules would be established. Newness prevailed everywhere!

But as the months wore on, North gradually "got organized," and soon the hammers and saws were silenced. North was at last complete. Now, where the sounds of construction had once been, there came sounds of industry, laughter, and applause. Where once had been only the coldness of steel, bricks, and concrete, there came the warmth of young life, the fun of new friendships, and the sympathy of sharing sorrows and joys.

This unfinished skeleton of our gym greeted us at the end of our freshman year. With much anticipation we waited to have our first basketball game in the newly-completed gym.

Construction, Sports, Social Activities

Long after the initial thrill of the first football and basketball victories is over, and the growing pains of the new school are past, new faces and new precedents will carry on tradition. But to us seniors, these things will never be forgotten. Always, we will remember that we were pioneers in helping to establish a new school.

The halls at North were constantly filled with activity. Green and white decked the halls and pupils alike as "Green and White Day" became a tradition. Yells and cheers echoed from the gym as students cheered their teams in both victory and defeat. Applause came from the auditorium as actors, actresses, and musicians displayed their skills.

As eighth graders, we watched the progress from the sidewalks of Diamond, Wedeking, and Stringtown. It was hard to visualize how our new school was to look when we would enter as freshmen.

Since we lacked a large gym in which to have pep assemblies, our freshman year saw us yelling our lungs out at the St. Theresa playground, in front of our school, or in the girls' gym.

Blazer And Extra Events Are Special

Blazer, our Husky mascot, enjoyed the onslaught of snow we had in March. Romping around in the snow, he must have been reminded of his old home up north.

Royalty elected for the football season were (bottom row) Sue King, Linda Hasenmyer, queen; Gwen Taylor, maid-of-honor; Carolyn Stucki; (top row) Ann Ash, Royalty at North was in the person of our football and basketball queens and their courts. At the Reitz game, Tom Duncan, quarterback, crowned Linda Hasenmyer as football queen for 1959-60. The team honored Queen Linda by winning over Reitz.

Cliff Campbell crowned Gwen Taylor at the Princeton basketball game—twice. First it was only a kiss because the crown was momentarily lost. Later, someone slipped her the wandering crown in time for the Senior Edition picture.

Green and white were all over the place on our annual Green and White Day in February.

Blazer, our Husky mascot, who is a boarder at the Tromly household, always visits the campus for our pep assemblies. After these outings, we watched him romp around in the courtyards, which sometimes proved a distraction to our classes.

Merry Prusz, Brenda Cobb, Pat Allis, Jeanette Skinner, and Donna Ruckman. Linda Thomas was absent when the picture was taken.

Moments And Chief Highlights To Us

Senior girls who reigned over the basketball season were (bottom row) Barbara Foster, Linda Hasenmyer, Ann Ash, Sue King; (middle row) Linda Thomas, Merry

The clinch! Cliff Campbell seems to be enjoying his job of crowning Basketball Queen Gwen Taylor at the North-Princeton game.

Green and white prevailed everywhere on our annual Green and White day. Here Nawanna Barton and Mike Clayton, eighth graders, decorate their door.

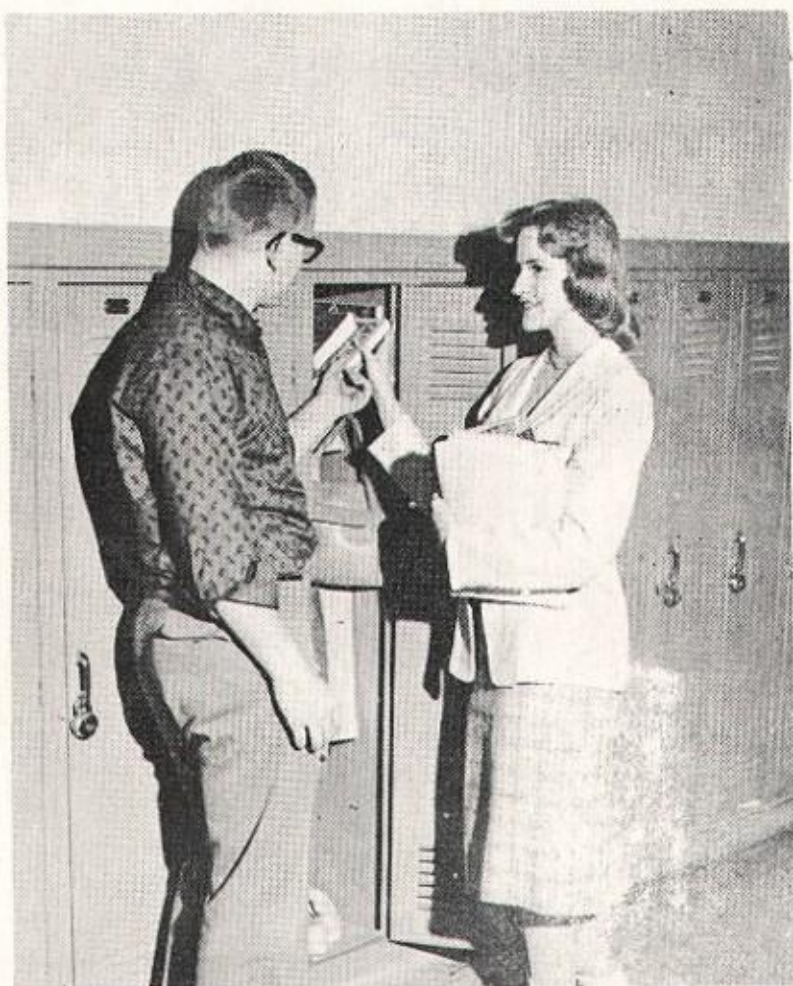

Everyday Events As Well As Unusual

Man! Dig that music! Barbara Kirsch and Sue King listen to a transistor radio during their lunch hours.

Shoes, shoes, and more shoes! Shoes of all shapes, styles, and sizes were seen in the halls this year as girls wore everything from the desert boots to "flats."

After a busy day at school, Wally Kieiman stops to chat with Pat Allis for a moment before departing for home.

Oh, my aching back! These good "Samaritans" helped shovel snow one day when North almost became a ghost school because of about 13 inches of this beautiful white stuff.

Events Are A Part Of Our Memories

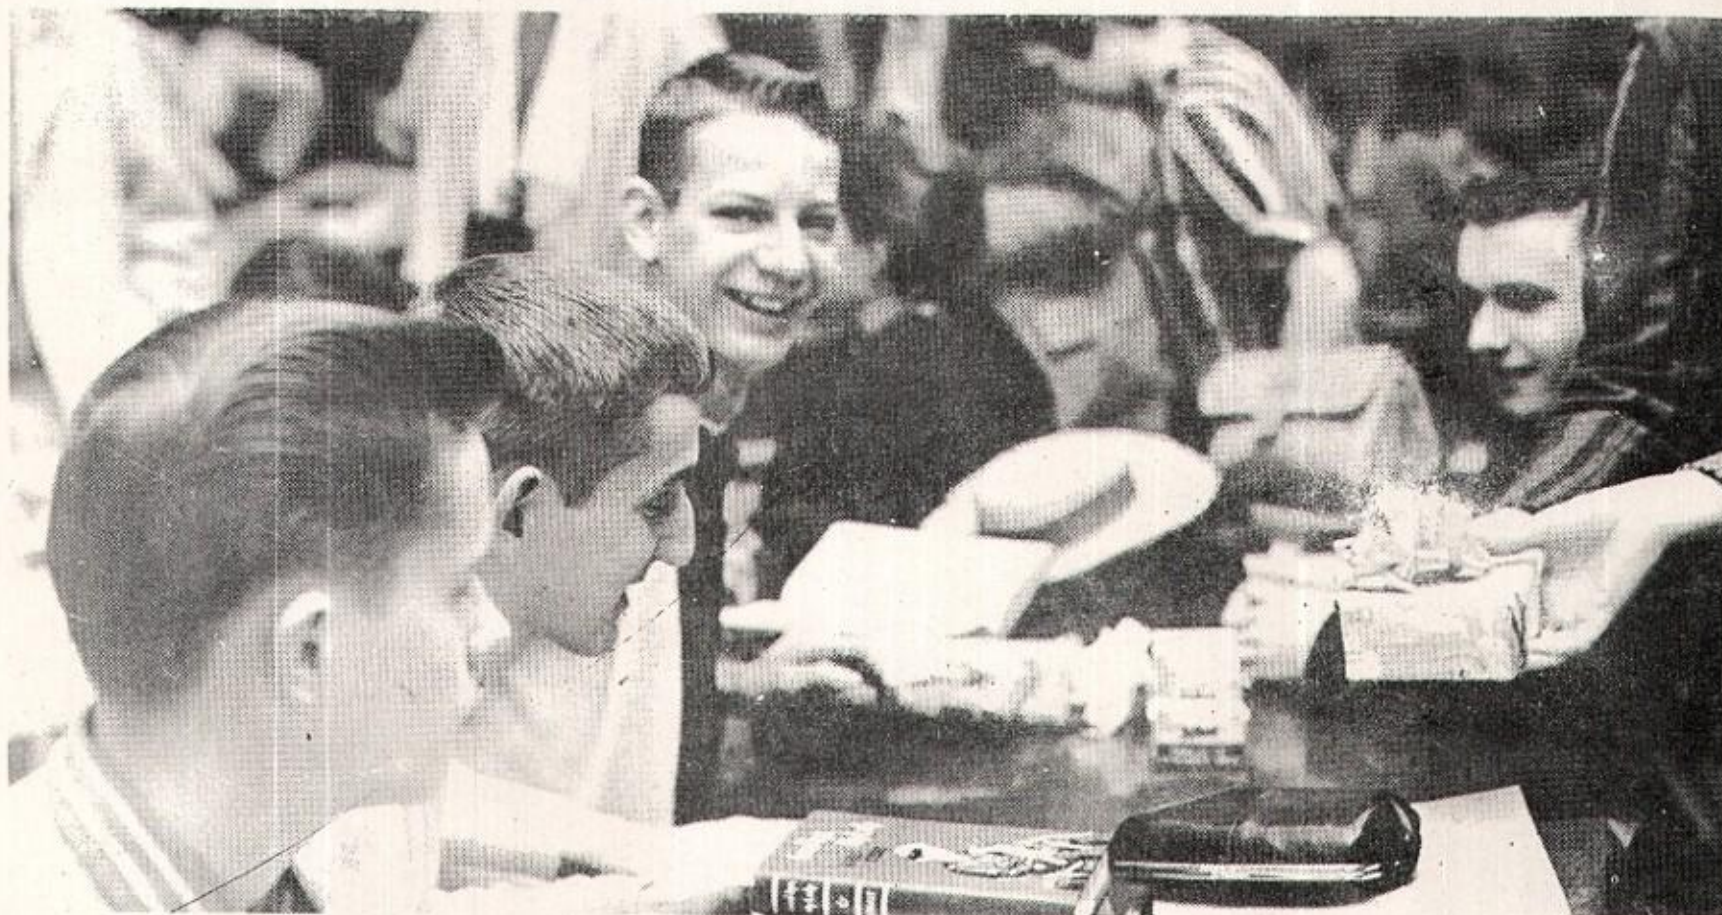

Initiations became a routine thing around North as different groups thought up clever stunts for bringing in new members. Here FHA initiates are Reita Jackson, Gail Gritzbaugh, Donna Farrell, Jane Thompson, and Jackie Woehler.

Our senior year had its daily schedule and routine colored with fads and memorable occasions.

The cafeteria remained the focal point of gatherings. Like a magnet, it attracted students before school to chat with friends, to catch up on some studying, or to grab a roll for a belated breakfast.

It was not unusual to see some student on his way to class, clutching the side of his head, listening to a small transistor radio. The sportsminded kept up with the world series games on the school TV sets.

Snow, snow, and more snow. A record breaker in March will long be remembered by North students. In our memory book will be the good times we had sledding, tobogganing, and snowballing. Some will remember all the walks that had to be shoveled; others will recall getting the car stuck in the student parking lot. But all will remember those days we missed at North because of that "white stuff."

Meeting in the cafeteria, students chat, study, and have a good time. They may even exchange presents, as seen here with Ron Lehmkuhl, Carl Schefer, Donald Bauer, and John McCulley.

Ron Lehmkuhl and Jerry Dassel, members of the advanced chemistry class, are making a chemical analysis in the lab.

The third-year Spanish class taught by Miss June Gibson consisted of seven students. Looking at a Spanish chart are Beth Bailey, Skip Igleheart, Delores Bischmann, and Bob Kirkpatrick.

We Studied With Experiments, Slides

Classes were an important part of our school life. Business, general college, technical college, and industrial arts were the four lanes of study from which we could choose. Small classes, big classes, hard classes, and easy classes all helped to educate us.

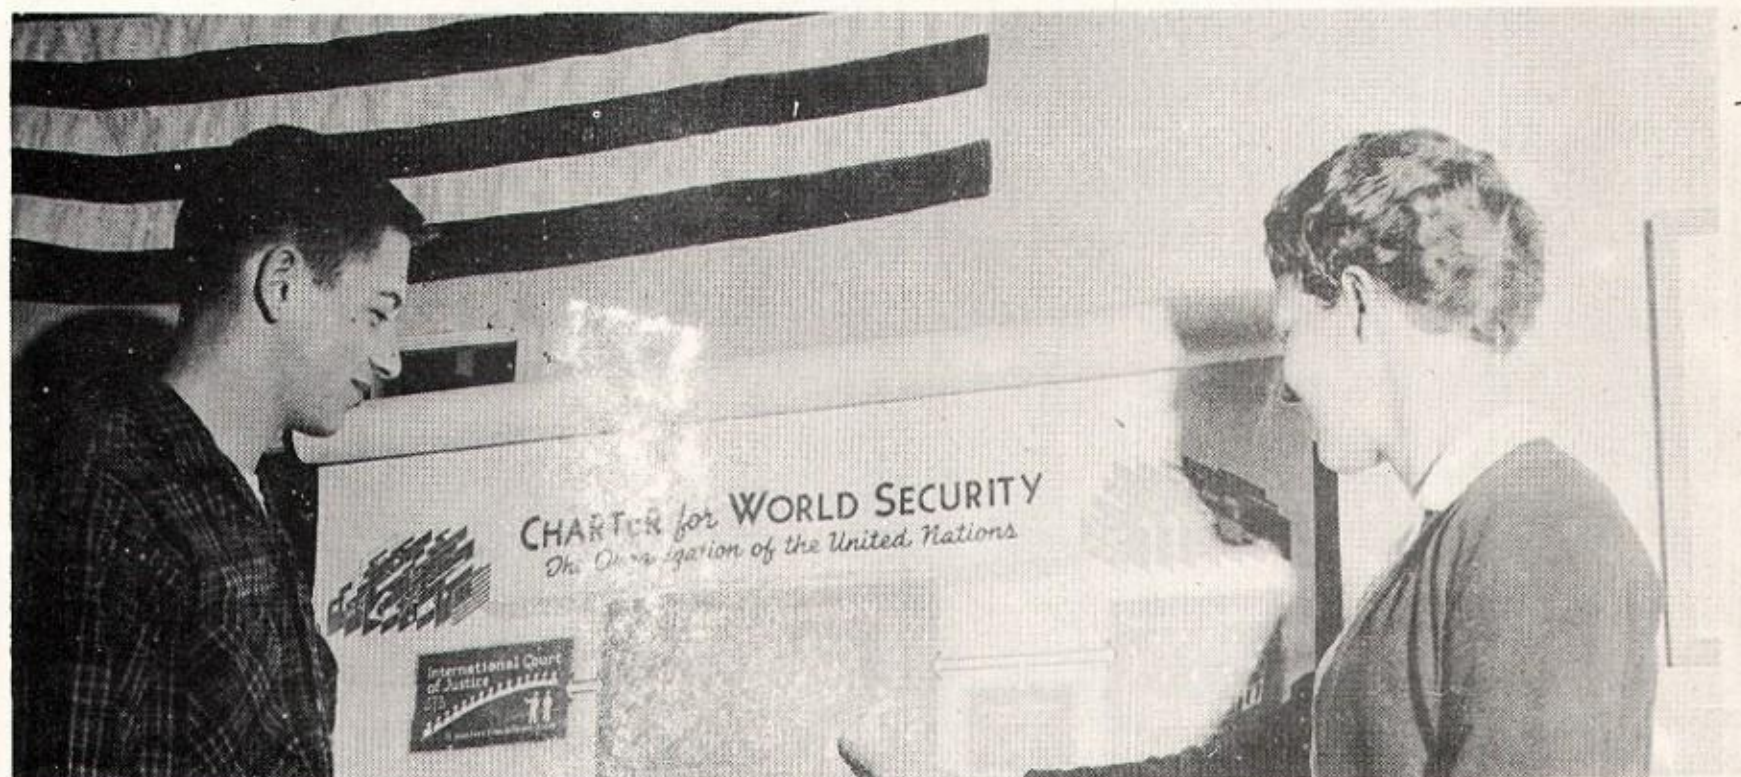

Advanced Composition gave the seniors

We all were required to take American Problems I and II before we could graduate. Included in the course is the study of American government, sociology, and economics.

many headaches. They had to write compositions, an essay, and a term paper, with six weeks to complete it.

We struggled with several advanced subjects this year: Chemistry III, third year Spanish and French, and the year's smallest class of two in third year German.

Gary Mize and Sharon Adams study a helpful chart on the United Nations during one of the units of government.

The clicking and clacking heard from the business classrooms was the evidence of students pounding away on their typewriters. Here a Typing 1 class is learning basic skills and fundamentals.

All Helped To Give Us An Education

Readometers, dissection, and geography entered into North's curriculum under the guises of Developmental Reading, Biology III, and Governments of the World. The readometer, a device to measure reading speed, drove bleary-eyed seniors to desperation.

Business students learned practical skills in bookkeeping, shorthand, and typing. Clerical practice and selling were further chances to gain actual office experience. Some of us even got to assist in the bookstore.

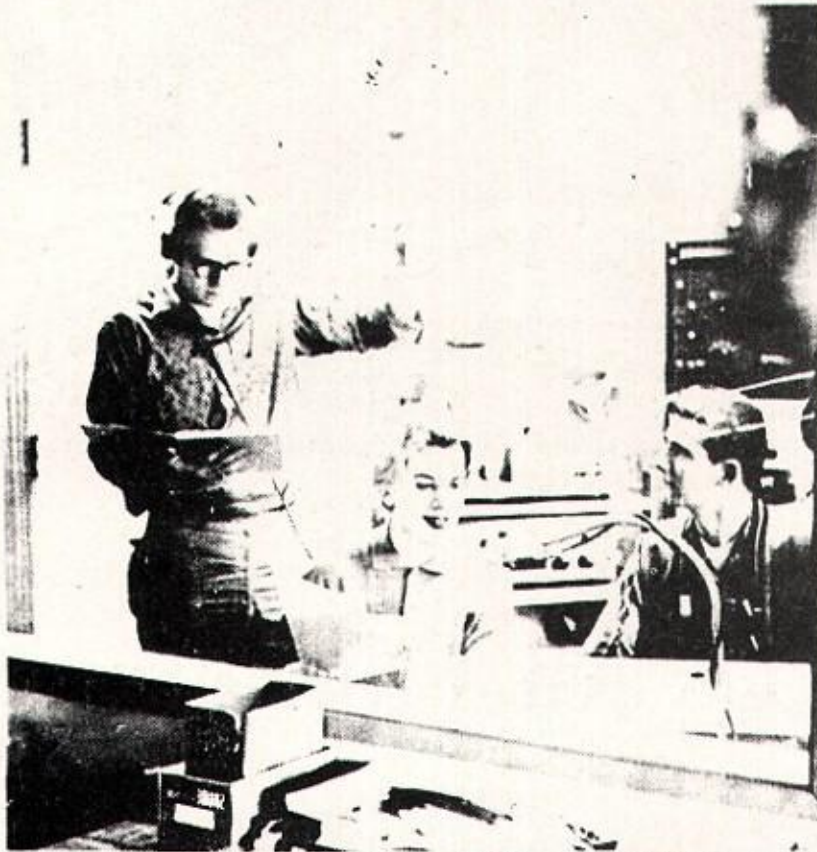

Sandra McMillan, Sally Powers, and Jim Roberts test their reading skill and comprehension in Developmental Reading, a non-credit course.

Jim Dixon, Solid Geometry student, explains his math project for the course to his class.

We Have A Wide Choice Of Courses

"Three, two, one . . ." signals Wally Kleiman to Janis Kracht while Jerry Greene looks on in radio expression class.

In the homemaking department girls learned the practical arts of sewing and cooking the modern way. No matter how many girls may "earn their own way," they will all need to know how to run a home, cook a meal, and, maybe, raise a family. Home nursing, family living, foods, and clothing, with a possible home economics major, were the subjects taught this year to girls ranging from the junior high to seniors. Biology III junior zoologists and botanists had projects to dissect. World affairs of current interest with emphasis on capitalism, socialism, and communism were the topics of discussion in government class. Nevertheless, juniors and seniors repeated some of their grade school chores of map-making. Writer's cramp came to those taking advanced math. Trig, solid geometry, and Algebra III and VI kept math students up late writing problems.

Art students try their hand at drawing pictures of models. The model is Omaloy Williams, and the intent looks are worn by Linda Topper, David Nunn, Carol Madden, Tom Hobby, and Suzie Feldkamp.

We Mix Fun With Hard Work

Health and Safety classes take an inspection of the driver training car before beginning their studies.

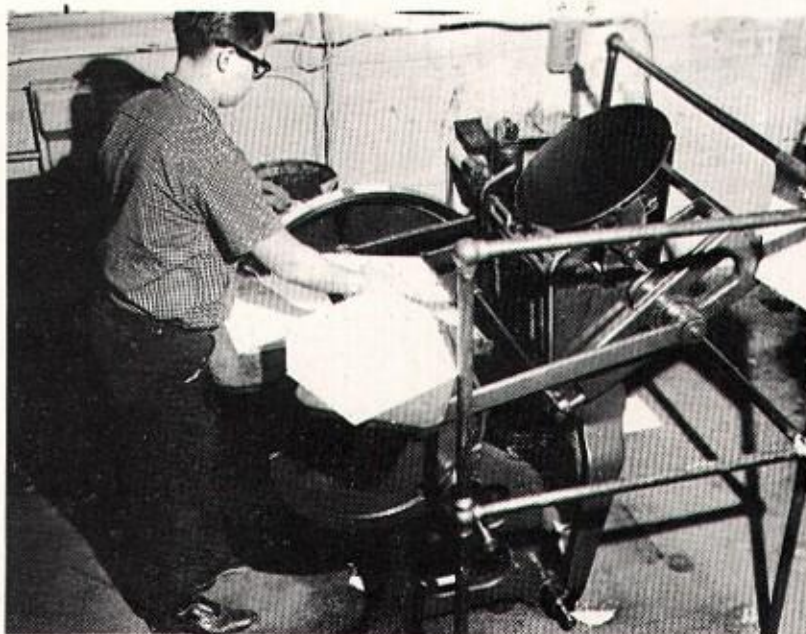

A panel consisting of Cliff Campbell, Jeanine Haube as moderator, Don McCormick, and Don Lewis give their viewpoints on dating to a family living class.

The art of cooking is not restricted to girls, evidently. Gilbert Lloyd, Judy Boatwright, Jim Elliott, and Marty Kitch stir up a tasty dish in foods class.

World Geography was introduced in North's curriculum. Carolyn Williams and Stanley Riecken study their text-book carefully before giving an oral report.

Charles Christmas, vocational printing student, turns out another copy on the press.

Darrell McLemore demonstrates one of the skills learned in sheet metal shop as he unrolls a sheet of tin.

Vocational Program Enables Boys To

About three hundred boys at North are learning a skill they will use in their future life; and at the same, they are getting a high school education.

North is the only Evansville school which offers a complete vocational training program. During his freshman year a boy may choose a variety of subjects in exploratory shops. By his junior year, he may begin extensive training in machine shop, auto mechanics, printing, electronics, auto body, electricity, machine drafting, or metal shop.

The shop boys, often taken for granted, perform valuable services for North and other Evansville schools. They work on projects for the community and non-profit organizations alike. Printing THE NORTH STAR and Senior Edition is an example of the many services performed by the vocational students.

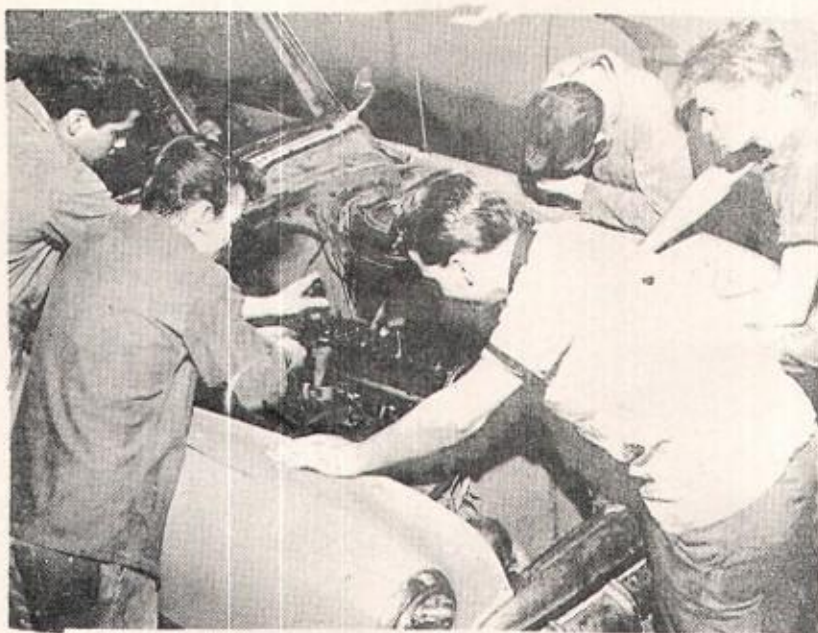

Upon completion of the vocational program, the boys receive a certificate of merit. Many students may receive on-the-job training while finishing requirements at night school.

Fred Thompson tests a television tube in his vocational electronics class.

Mr. Charles Jordan and Mr. Alvin Holtz inspect one of the vocational department's machines to see if it is running properly.

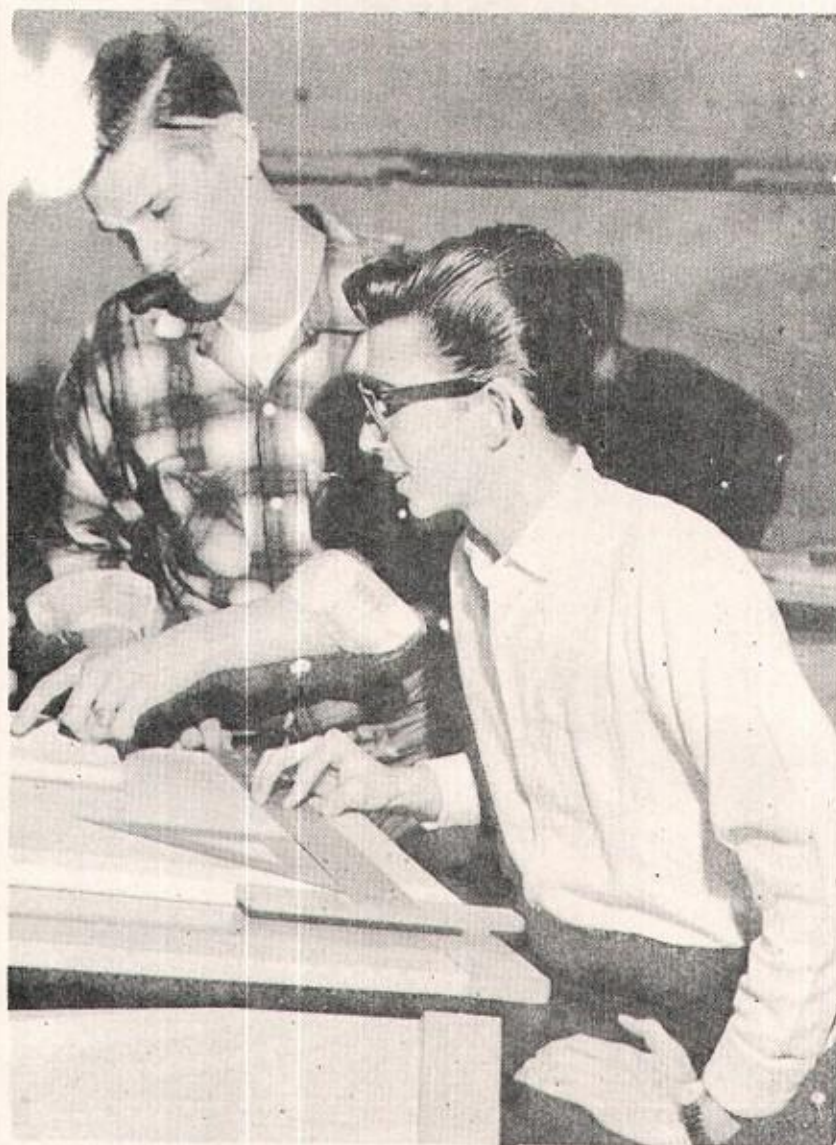

Steve Simons, Virgil Moody, Jack Pfender, Ron Powers, and George Newman check the engine after overhauling it in auto mechanics.

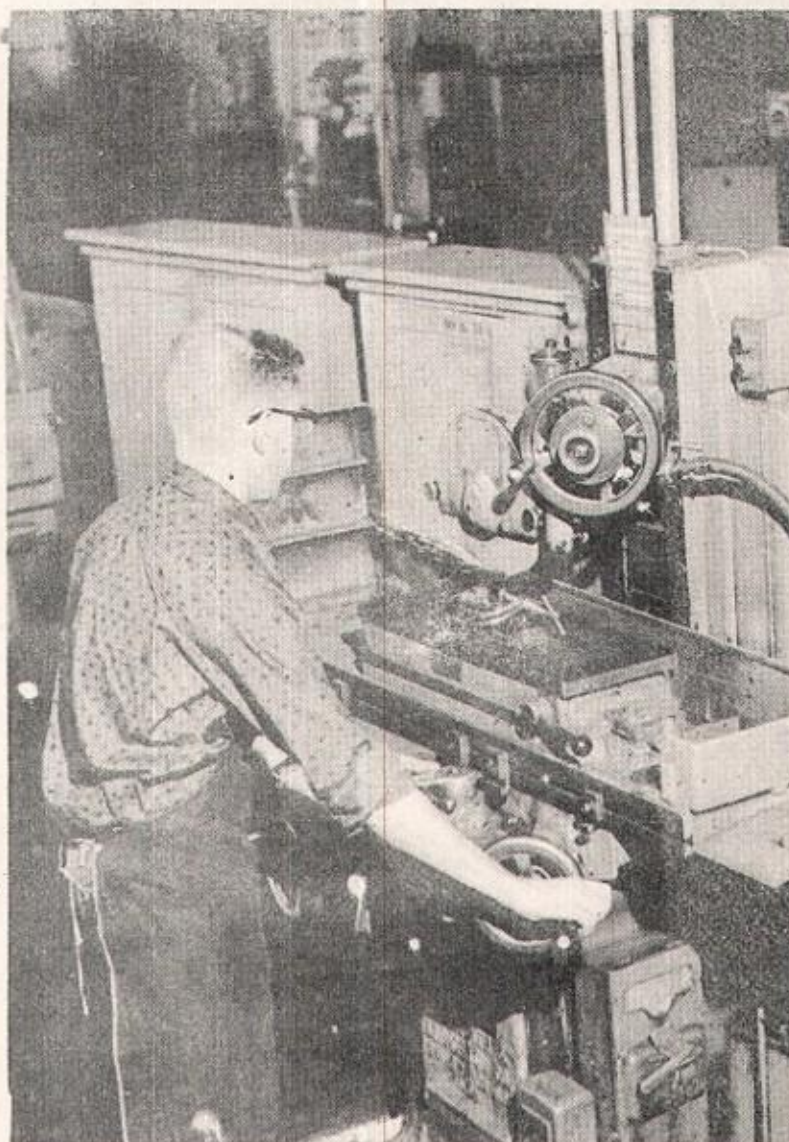

Jimmy Austill sands a car before painting it in vocational auto body shop.

Bill Walts and Jerry Points look over the lay-out before completing their assignment in mechanical drawing.

Russell Goad operates a surface grinder in vocational machine shop.

We Will Remember Our Clubs

Both Social And Scholastic

Clubs, plays, music groups, and extra-curricular activities have all played an important part in our four years at North. The variety of activities includes something to suit nearly all of us, and each new venture offered us a new and exciting experience. Here we met and worked together with many students whose paths we would not otherwise have crossed. As we look back, we will remember all these activities and all the good times we shared while being members of these various organizations.

Music Students Showed Much Talent

These three pert girls who led our marching band during football season are Sherry Bombe, Ronda Woodruff, and Mary Jo Hancock.

The North music department outdid itself during the 1959-60 school year.

Drum Major Jack Wright guided the marching band through many thrilling half-time football performances. John Schwartz acted as Captain, assisted by Lieutenant John McCulley. Come contest time, North musicians copped nineteen first places in the district solo and ensemble contest. Twenty musicians went on to take fifteen first places in the state contest.

The vocal music students, under the direction of Mr. Jerry Hoover, also had an unusually fine year. The Concert Choir and students in dramatics presented "The King and I" as the annual spring musical. The Choir also presented a special program at Indiana University and combined selections from many of their performances on a long-play recording.

Journalists Rushed To Meet Deadlines

Ummmm! Looks good! Celebrating The North Star's third birthday, the first semester staff gathers around the birthday cake. Doris Williams and Barbara Kirsch prepare to divide the cake among the eager staff members.

The "big five" for two semesters who have put in many long hours on The North Star are Doris Williams, first semester editor; Donna Ruckman, first semester news editor; Mary Ann Shelton, second semester managing

Our Print Shop Was Indispensable

"Deadline" is a familiar word to THE NORTH STAR staff. It sometimes seemed as though they would never be able to meet that deadline, but they always went to press on time.

They had their problems with school being closed because of heavy snow; but even then, the staff, with the co-operation of the print shop, managed to be the only city school paper to get out on time for two successive snowbound weeks.

The staff's work is only half the job of publishing a paper. The North print shop boys were indispensable in their part of the mechanical detail.

In addition to getting out the paper, some of the reporters "graduated" to the Senior Edition staff during the second semester. Merry Prusz, as editor, had nightmares meeting deadlines. Diane Minton was chief editorial assistant.

Since the second semester staff was so large, two periods were provided. Fifth period included Mike East and Dixie Turley (seated), (back row) Ann Pampe, Sondra Ruston, Ann Barclay (hidden), John Mominee, Larry Stephenson, Judy Conner, Beth Bailey, Sally Kirkpatrick, Bob Kirkpatrick, and Trent Strickland.

The rest of the second semester staff met seventh period. Working diligently are (first table) Howard Beastall, Pat Allis, Barbara Kirsch, Mary Ann Shelton, (second table) Jeanette Skinner, Jim Roberts, John McCulley, Janis Gates, Jeremie Tromly, Janet Walsh, Judy Shafer, and Sharon Dodge. Donna Ruckman was not present.

Sally Kirkpatrick, Student Council prexy, presides over a bi-weekly meeting. The student governing body of the school, it provides leadership and action for North. It also undertakes many helpful activities.

We Have Many Active Organizations

Filling bags for the Goodwill Industry, crowning the football queen, and furnishing the school with a 50-star flag were among some of the projects sponsored by the 1959-60 Student Council, headed by Sally Kirkpatrick, senior. Linda Hasenmyer and Jeanette Skinner, seniors, held down the spots of vice-president and secretary, respectively. Larry Lindenschmidt, junior, served as treasurer.

Leadership in abundance was provided by our 1959-60 National Honor Society, headed by Don Zurstadt. Anne Bauer served as vice-president with Susan Geier and Alan Eggleston filling the offices of secretary and treasurer, respectively. Compiling an instructive handbook for incoming freshmen and aiding in the orientation

ner; (top row) Art Pohl, Paul Williams, Jack Brown, Harvey Rosenmeier, and Mike East. Missing are Jim Henton, Howard Barnett, and Larry Butts.

Two-year National Honor Society members are (bottom row) Sally Powers, Susan Geier, Barbara Kirsch, Anne Bauer, Mary Ann Shelton, Jeanette Skinner; (middle program at the feeder schools were among the services rendered by this group.

An all-male slate of officers headed North's chapter of the Quill and Scroll, international honorary for high school journalists. Mike East, Art Pohl, Jim Henton, and Paul Williams carried on as president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer.

A gripping and quite often riotous, play "Ladies of the Jury," two initiations, and a spring production comprised the activities of the National Thespian Society, under the direction of Carl Schefer, president. Wally Kleiman and Janis Kracht officiated as vice-president and secretary, while Vicki Karch was keeper-of-the-points.

Cheerleaders, Pep Club Display Pep

The cheerleading squads were busy with extra activities added to the normal hurried schedule of practices, assemblies, and games. In October the varsity and reserve squads went to a cheerleading clinic at Columbus, Ind. A week later they attended an Indiana University cheerleading conference to get new ideas for the year.

The new touch was the green and white skirt-vest outfits for the varsity cheerleaders, who designed the outfits themselves. Sharon Dodge's mother made them.

The main display of pep came at the Sectional. The cheerleaders, with the help of class officers and Mr. Harry Friley's art classes, gave the school a life-like Husky and an igloo. Two students dressed as Eskimos for the display at the pep assembly and North games. A fifty-foot poster was draped in front of the cheering section at the Stadium.

The pom-pom section was a group of girls who flashed green and white crepe paper pom poms during the North games.

The Pep Club became more active this year and helped the school with crepe paper and posters. During football season they led us in a car caravan to Enlow Field. Once we even had an impromptu assembly without aid of microphones, yell uniforms, or entertainment, when we were ushered hastily to the gym during a bomb scare.

Pep Club officers review plans for the basketball coronation, which was just one of the activities sponsored by the Pep Club this year. Officers are Jeremie Tromly, secretary; Ann Bauer, vice-president; Gary Seiler, president; and Pat Allis, treasurer.

"Give us the green!" shouts the pom-pom section at the Sectional pep assembly.

"Go! Fight! Win!" yell the varsity cheerleaders as they lead the student body in yells during one of our pep assemblies.

The sign in front of our cheering section, our Husky display, and our pom pom girls were one of the attractions at the Sectional Tournament.

To Boost School Spirit, Team Morale

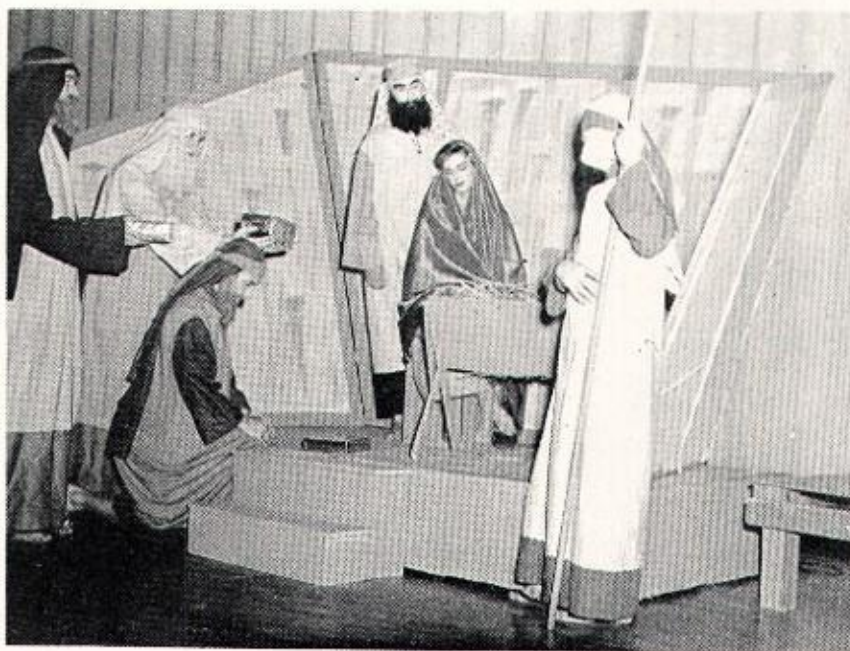

Our varsity cheerleaders sporting their new yell outfits are Sharon Dodge, Judy Hogue, Sally Kirkpatrick, Gwen Taylor, and Jeanette Skinner, captain.

Cheering the reserve teams on to victory are Judy Skinner, captain, Alice Campbell, Margie Hale, Tana Paulson, and Carol Beastall.

The freshman cheerleaders kneeling in a semi-circle are Clara Madriga, Sharon Paulson, Sally Hurst, Connie Krause, and Jane Barclay.

Shepherds and Wisemen brought gifts in "The Pageant of Light," the annual Christmas play. Jeanine Haube portrayed Mary, and Joseph, next to Mary, was played by Gerald Schuessler.

Lighting the candle for the Christmas pageant is David Westfall, seventh grader.

Rehearsing for the musical "The King and I" are Tom Brackett, the King, and Barbara Foster, Anna.

Tuning up in the wings before their act in the "North Highlights" is the German Band consisting of (bottom row) Phil Cole, Jim Culpepper, Ken Fenner; (top row) Dick Croy, Don Miller, and Dave Buge.

Students Display Talent In Dramatics

"Break a leg!" This traditional good-luck phrase (it's bad luck to wish an actor "good luck") was used by Mr. Jan Benjamin, dramatics sponsor, before the curtain rose on this year's dramatic productions.

Interest in dramatics was intense this year, as illustrated by the many students who tried out for plays and the large audiences at the performances.

"Ladies of the Jury," starring Barbara Foster and Jack Justice, was the all-school fall comedy. After proceedings in the courtroom involving a murder trial, the jury, composed of a variety of hilarious characters, spent two days to reach a verdict.

"The Pageant of Light," North's annual Christmas performance, was beautifully pantomimed by members of the Dramatics I class. Mary was enacted by Jeanine Haube and Joseph was played by Gerald Schuessler. The Concert Choir provided background music.

North's talent was in the limelight during the fourth annual "North Highlights" in February. Carl Schefer was the emcee of the program, which consisted of a diversified slate of top-rate acts. A possible preview of North Highlights to come was the display of Freshmen Talent in their own show in March.

The spring musical, "The King and I," brought the dramatics season to an end. A joint production between the dramatics and music students, "The King and I" proved to be an ambitious undertaking and a great success. Principal characters were Barbara Foster as Anna and Tom Brackett as the King.

Accompanied by the Dance Band, Susan Geier and Jeanine Haube play a flute duet for the annual "North Highlights."

North Gained Prestige Through

Talking over the results of the National Merit tests are these semi-finalists: Don Zurstadt, Jim Rademacher, and Keith Stavely.

Efforts Of Honor Students

Many of North's honor students made headlines on numerous occasions to bring recognition to our school.

During Youth Appreciation Week, sponsored by the Optimist Club, ten students represented North by holding various city offices.

Three boys, Don Zurstadt, Jim Rademacher, and Keith Stavely, scored exceptional grades on the national Merit Scholarship test and were eligible to compete in nation-wide tests. Don also received the Bausch & Lomb Science Award, obtained honorable mention in the Westinghouse National Science Talent Search, and was one of the thirty-two state finalists in the 13th annual Indiana Science Talent Search.

Music brought recognition to North. At the invitation of Bosse, host to the basketball tourneys, North's color guard presented the colors at each session through the Semi-State. Wayne Roberts sang the National Anthem.

Many other honors and awards also brought prestige to North.

Looking over college catalogues are Barbara Foster, who was named Homemaker of the Year, and Linda Hasenmyer, Quota Club award winner for the outstanding senior girl.

Playing the National Anthem for the Sectional, Regional, and Semi-State games was the color guard composed of (front row) David Simpson, Roger Hayes, Wayne Roberts, vocalist, Jerry Points, Danny Points; (back row) Leonard Bankford, Jack Wright, John McCulley, and Don Miller.

Doris Williams was elected by the senior class and faculty to be the recipient of the DAR award for leadership, dependability, and scholarship.

We Will Remember Our Sports

Both Victories And Defeats

North has come a long way in four short years of athletics. We have displayed some of the best athletes in the city, and our teams are respected by every school which competed against them. These accomplishments are due to an able coaching staff and to athletes who faithfully put in long, hard hours to bring glory and honor to North.

Cheerleaders also helped the student body build our cheering section into the best in the city. We will long remember the thrill of backing our teams as they turned in the best over-all record yet.

Our Football Team Enjoyed Success

They came the closest yet last fall to giving North High its first major athletic championship. This was the near achievement of the '59 gridiron squad, which compiled a 7-2 record under the guidance of Head Coach Morris Riley and his assistant, Ed Wessel.

The Huskies were picked to be tough, with twelve returning lettermen, but nobody realized how tough until the gridgers hit the high mark of the North football season by stunning Bloomington, 35-7.

The Bloomington victory was followed by a victory over Bosse to make four straight wins, and spirits soared. The game of the year turned out to be that fifth game—a "do or die" affair on a warm fall night pitting the undefeated Huskies against undefeated Memorial. Some 8,000 fans, witnessing one of Evansville's finest games, saw North fight all the way until falling, 18-13.

Ron McAdams, senior received the Kiwanis Award. Ron and Jerry Bruner, Ron Taylor, and Mike Madriaga were named to the all-city team.

Coach Archie Owen's reserve squad, following varsity suit, racked up a 5-0-1 record the city championship, and a promising grid future.

The reserves used most of their "practice" time to scrimmage with the varsity, using opponents' plays. They not only helped the varsity gridgers to a fine year, but also they made the grade themselves.

Mr. Adrian Meadows beams with pride as Ron McAdams becomes the latest addition to the Kiwanis list of football greats.

Head football Coach Morris Riley accepts a trophy, given to him by the senior members of this year's squad, from Captain Jerry Bruner.

This was the year for Coach Jim Rausch's cross country runners. They tallied an undefeated regular season mark, won the city championship, and qualified for the State cross country meet.

Led by Don Zurstadt, Richard Royalty, Jeff Askew, Gary Thompson, and Joe Mullan, the North distance-men had little difficulty in capturing North's first city cross country championship.

The wrestlers of Coach Archie Owen finished with a 9-1 record, their only loss being a close 26-23 drop to tough Franklin Township of Indianapolis. The grapplers won the city meet, finished second to New Albany in the sectional, and placed fourth in the SIAC.

Volkman, Larry Kemper, Gary Pfender, Gary Bryant, Harold Matthews, and Coach Jim Rausch. Boys on the bottom row went to the State meet.

Scott Riley demonstrates a near pin as Mike Taylor struggles. Scotty was a stand-out in the 103-pound class, winning 18 matches until his ultimate defeat at the regional match in Bloomington.

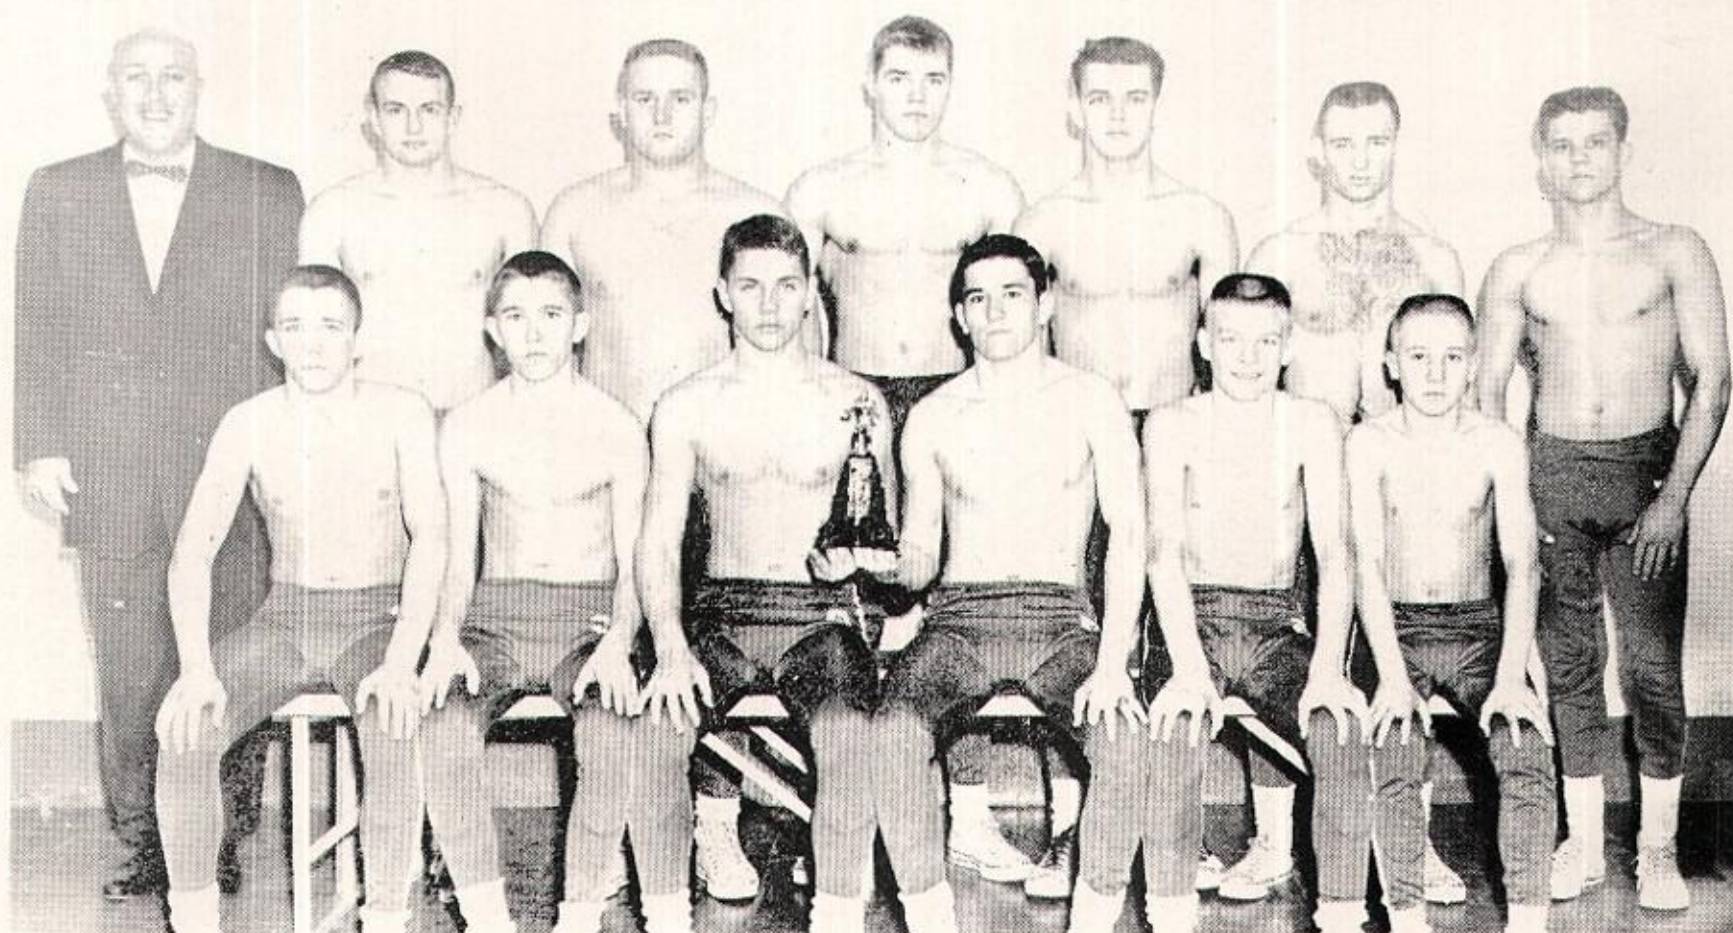

Don McCormick displays good form in trying to break away from John Hunter's powerful grip. Don was city champion for the third straight year in the 154-pound class. Strong-man Hunter established a 17-2 record for the season and hopes to wrestle at I.U.

Much Patience, Long, Hard Training

and Jerry Wise. This was the team that turned in an impressive defeat of Mater Dei and stirred local interest in the Spartan skills of the individual athlete.

Fighting Huskies Never Lose Faith

Starting out with three straight victories, including a 46-44 upset over Huntingburg, the Husky roundballers under Coach Jim Rausch seemed destined for their best season to date. But along the three-month season, the road proved a little too rough as the Northmen were forced to settle for an over-all record of 8 wins and 12 losses, including tournament play.

This year's seniors were John Newman, Jerry Smith, Cliff Campbell, Charlie Jackson, Richard Royalty, Larry Kemper, and Earl Philipps. Mike Volkman, junior, and Cliff Campbell, senior, received honorable mention on the Press All-City squad.

Volkman was the team's top point-getter, while big Earl Philipps pulled down most of the rebounds. Philipps improved steadily throughout the season and finished as the Kiwanis basketball award winner.

The high-point of the season would have to be the team's 55-54 upset of the rival Bosse Bulldogs. It was this loss that helped rob the Bulldogs of the city crown.

Coach Frank Schwitz's reserve squad compiled an over-all 14-4 record. They clinched the city title by defeating Reitz, and their only city loss was to Bosse.

Forward Earl Philipps, Kiwanis award winner, slips two in against Memorial as Richard Royalty and Charlie Jackson, guards, look on.

Active Spring Sports Keep Our Field

John Newman winds up for a fast delivery as the Husky nine finally get to the field to practice.

Spring sports got a late start this year because of the March snows. Baseball and track, which are always standouts on the Husky sports calendar, saw most action after the Senior Edition deadline.

Occupied With Well-Qualified Athletes

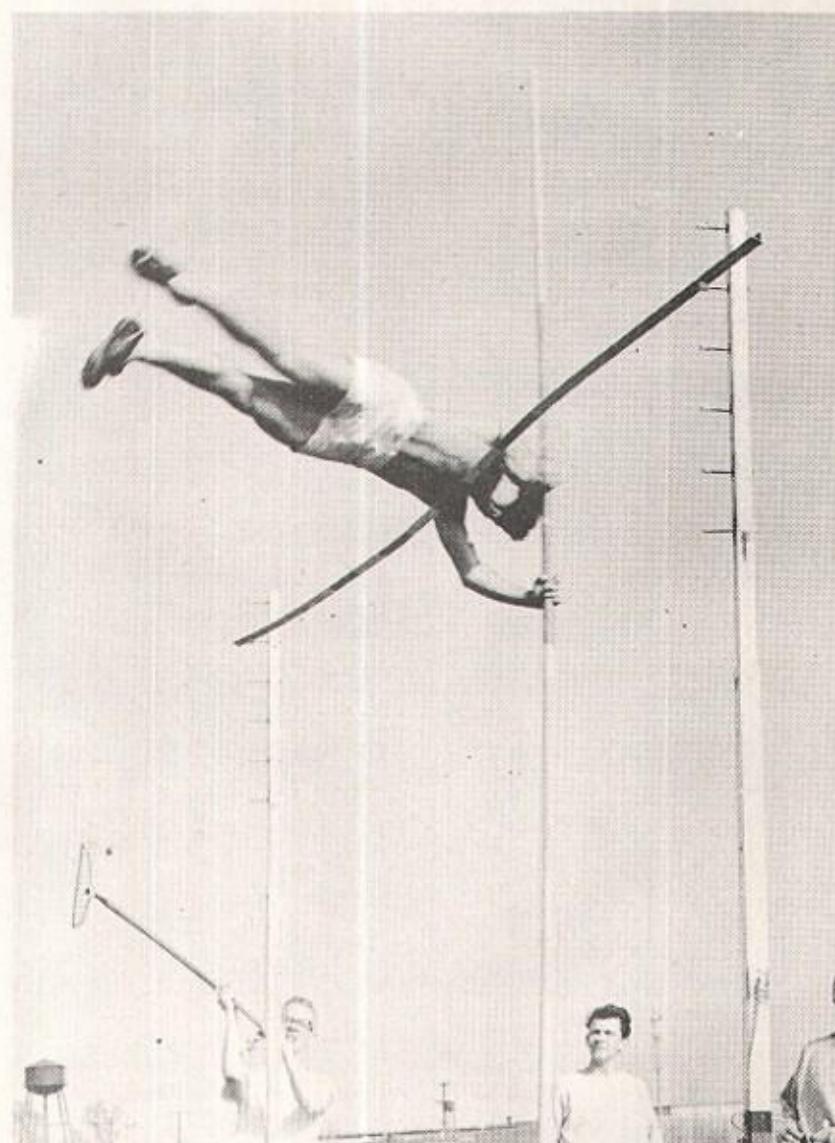

will be back in their old spots next season.

When track practice started in early March, underclassmen also seemed to be the standouts. Coach Morris Riley's boys, even without the benefit of a regulation track for practice, were still able to fly the North banner high. With John Mominee and Howard Beastall, juniors, along with Don Zurstadt, and Richard Royalty, seniors, and some fine sophomore runners, the trackmen anticipated a pleasing season.

Tom Hobdy races through the high hurdle course in the boys' gym training for track.

Snow Hinders Golf And Tennis Squads

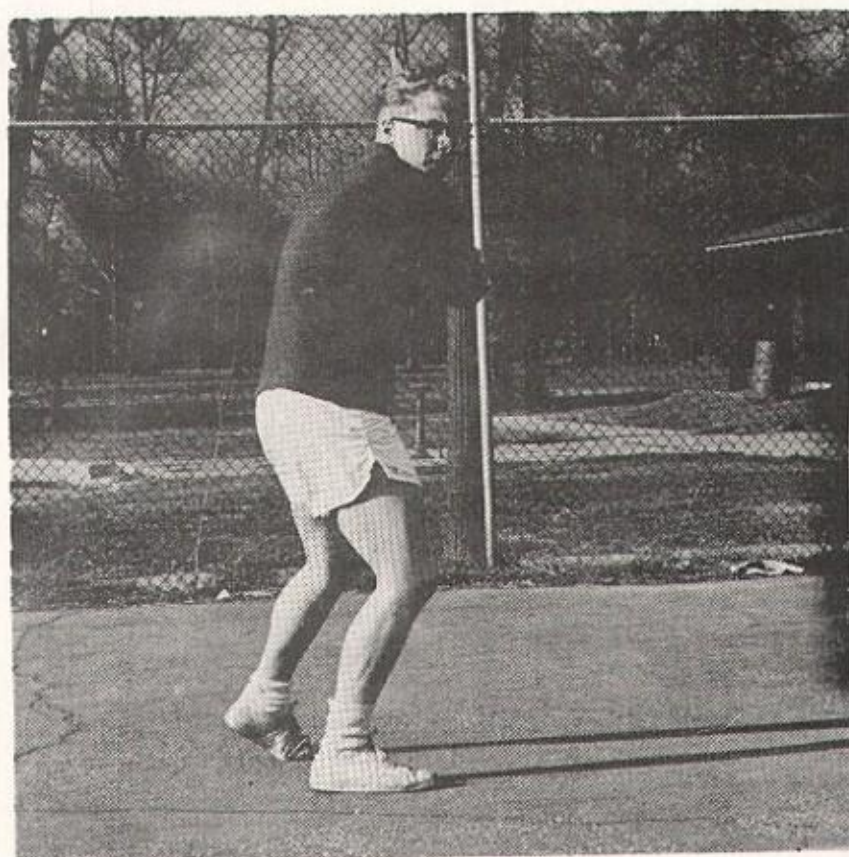

Practice for the golf and tennis squads was also snowed in a little this spring.

Rebuilding is the problem for Coach Paul Schmidt's golf team this year. With Benny Brinker, Jerry Points, and Larry Coffman the only returnees with any real experience, the linksters may find it hard to match last season's efforts.

On the tennis courts, Art Pohl and Ron McAdams, four-year lettermen for Coach Ray Jones, are the main sparks for the squad. With some younger boys gaining interest, tennis results should pick up in the future. Pohl and McAdams played top single posts and number-one doubles, as the netters did battle with the best.

This year's linksmen include (kneeling) Bill Halbig, Tom Van Britson, Bob Ginger, Steve Troyer, Terry Gresco, Bob Van Britson, Paul Williams, Jerry Points;

Leading GAA through its various activities were its officers, Karen Bishop, Pat Caze, Earlene Weatherholt, and Judy Shafer.

Girls display their skill at ping pong during gym class. They may also participate in bowling or shuffleboard during this phase of the physical education program.

Girls, Too, Are Sports Enthusiasts

Girls, too, have been active in sports. GAA offers the girls various extra-class activities such as bowling, swimming, tennis, golf, and modeling. Besides these outside activities, gals also participate in volleyball, baseball, table tennis, basketball, and badminton during sessions at school. After a girl accumulates a certain number of points, she receives a pin and a sweater.

Modeling and good grooming courses were taken by GAA members. Melissa Malone gives Nila Pfender and Lana Rettig some good pointers.

Demonstrating her bowling skill, Judy Pride rolls another one down the alley, aiming for top bowling honors.

With all freshman teams having winning seasons, the North athletic future looks bright. Although the North frosh football squad suffered their first loss in three years, they were still able to compile a 5-1 record, good for a city title.

The freshmen ran into tough competition throughout the season. However, behind such standouts as Steve Schroer, Jack Carter, Ted Mattingly, and Tom Sisk, only strong Reitz was able to tip them in a 19-6 battle. Enough good ball players are coming up from this squad to keep the varsity well fortified for coming seasons.

Coach Richard Hougland's netters, with a 16-4 record, had a fine season, winning their second straight city championship, but were stopped in their bid to repeat as SIAC champs.

North's Urey Miller shows Memorial freshmen that height isn't everything as he shoots a fifteen-footer. Mel Brewer (34) heads for a possible rebound as Steve Schroer (14) stands by.

We Will Remember Our Friends

Both Teachers And Students

"I can't remember her name, but she sat in front of me in TV American Problems. She had a blonde pony tail . . ."

A part of what we take with us when we leave North will be the memory of a multitude of personalities and faces. Some will always remain our close friends. Others we'll recall were the "wheels." Our teachers we'll never forget. For the rest, their names may become obscure, while only their faces jog our memories as we try to place them.

Among the faces we will remember are our classmates, the counselors and teachers, the nurse, librarian, and secretaries, the cooks and matrons, and the custodians. All have played an important part in our four years at North, and all will have a place in our book of memories.

Larry Koch presides over a senior council meeting to discuss plans for the Senior Prom. Council members include the officers, Pat Allis, Don Lewis, Linda Thomas, and Larry Koch; and (first row) Janis Kracht, David

Competent Officers Lead Class Of '60

Mr. Jerry Hoover and Mrs. Lois Ossenberg, senior class co-sponsors, review plans of Senior Week activities.

The Senior class of 1960 was led by President Larry Koch, with Vice-President Don Lewis, Secretary Linda Thomas, and Treasurer Pat Allis. These officers presided over our senior class and council meetings. Mrs. Lois Ossenberg and Mr. Jerry Hoover, our class sponsors, gave us many hours of their time. Senior council members include Ed Bosecker, Susan Geier, Diane Minton, Ruth Ann Girton, Brenda West, Janis Kracht, Sandra Clerk, David White, Gary Mize, Sally Powers, Jeanette Skinner, and Keith Stavely.

Camera Shy

Robert Lindy, Robert Mackey, William Marshall, James Moore, William Queen, Helen Rader, John Ramsey, Jim Rudolph, Marilyn Ruston, Robert Savage, Wayne Schmidt, Ivory Williams, Isaac Winfield, Glen Zills, and Harold Young.

Tinsel Tocatta, our senior prom, was highlighted by the singing of a quartet composed of Barry Doss, Jerry Smith, Don Lewis, and Bill Clem.

Packing industriously for the Eastern tour this spring are Susan Geier, Donna Jones, Diane Minton, and Betty Gibson.

Our History Is Filled With Activities

For us, the class of 1960, as for any senior class, Commencement will have a double significance. It is the beginning of a new life for us, but it is also the end of four wonderful and rewarding years. We are the first class to attend all four years. Now that we are leaving, we wouldn't have missed a day of those four years behind us.

Our first task as freshmen in a brand new school was to choose school colors, a school mascot, and a school song. The final choices were between "Green and White Huskies," and "Black and Gray Rams." After a few weeks of heated campaigning, we voted, and "Green and White Huskies" emerged victorious, with the tune to the Ohio State "Fight Song" as a basis for our school song. Another vivid memory of our freshman year at North was knocking on doors many evenings selling candy to raise money for band uniforms. Late in January "S-day" posters filled the halls. When "S-Day" finally arrived, it heralded the first issue of THE NORTH STAR, our weekly paper. Our first basketball team won its first and only victory over Rockport that year.

During our sophomore year we saw more changes take place as North smoothed out the kinks. Rules became something for everyone to know as our school became organized and efficient. We saw our football team win its first victory. We proudly watched our basketball team play its first game in the North gymnasium, and we thrilled to the crowning of basketball and football queens. This year also brought "Green and White Day," and the campaign to buy a live Husky mascot for the school.

Then came our junior year. We were finally upperclassmen and took an eager part in all school activities. We cheered our football and basketball teams as they both posted winning seasons for the first time in North's short history. Weeks of planning went into our Junior Prom "Fantasia" at the Great Hall. This year also brought the arrival of Blazer, and we proudly boasted that we were the only school in Evansville to have a live mascot, even if we couldn't take him to the games. Finally, we chose our class rings, the mark of an upperclassman, and a long-awaited moment in many of our lives.

Then, the first three were the past, and we were seniors. The thrill and excitement of our senior year was the climax to be long remembered by all of us.

"Tinsel Toccatta," our Senior Prom, was in the Rural Youth Center. Decorations sparkled in keeping with the theme, and dreamy music made it a wonderful evening for everyone who attended. As seniors we also had our pictures taken, were measured for caps and gowns, and ordered calling cards and announcements, but this all added to the thrill of being seniors. Another important event was the adoption of Tung, our foster child from Viet Nam. This project was sponsored by THE NORTH STAR.

Queen coronations, the motorcade to the Memorial game, "Ladies of the Jury," "The King and I," senior meetings, elections, tournaments, special awards, and the big snow in March, which led to the dismissal of school for two days, all were a part of our senior year.

And, now, Senior Week. This week is filled with mixed emotions of joy, excitement, and even sadness. Baccalaureate is a solemn service, but it makes us realize that an element of faith enters each of our lives. The class picnic, a day filled with many exciting events, the Senior Faculty Reception, which gives us a chance to say a final farewell to our teachers. Class Day, during which many honors are bestowed upon members of our class, and finally all these rehearsals for Commencement fill our Senior Week. With Commencement upon us we find ourselves saying good-bye to the school that has given us so much. But, as we leave North, as we remember the lessons it taught us and the friendships it brought us, we will always strive to bring honor to it.

. . .And here we all are. At least most of us. We met in the auditorium, transacted our business, made our prom and party plans, and learned to sing the "North Hymn." In fact, we sang it several times throughout the year, hoping to prevent that lump in the throat when we sang it the last time.

Principal, Deans, Counselors Helped

Looking over results of aptitude tests so they can get a better understanding of the students are Mr. Harold Buck, counselor, and Miss Dorothy Lang, dean of girls.

Heading a staff of efficient persons at North is Mr. Adrian L. Meadows, our principal, who has a ready ear for our requests. He is a tall man in more ways than one, and we look up to him.

Assisting Mr. Meadows is Mr. Paul Forney, assistant principal and dean of boys, whose favorite theme is regular attendance. He is busy enough planning the semester schedule of classes, but he occasionally finds time to clown for our assembly programs.

Dean of girls is the official title of Miss Dorothy Lang. She is always ready to help girls with their difficulties, and somehow her advice is never hard to take.

Mr. Harold Buck, guidance counselor, is the man to see about college and the preparation for it. His office is filled with students wanting to know how they did on various scholastic tests or how they can get ready for a job.

The secretaries are the "right-hand-girls," and their efficiency and competence keep the wheels turning even when the bosses are away.

Discussing one of the problems which confront them in their everyday routine of running the school are

Mr. Paul Forney, assistant principal, and Mr. Adrian Meadows, principal.

Us With Our Problems, Future Plans

Our bookstore is always on hand to supply us with the books and supplies that we need. Bookstore assistants are Carol Harkins and Norma McReynolds. Customers are Earl McCurdy, Garon Renner, George Harrington, and Carol Stofleth.

Joyce Moss receives a bandage at the nurse's office. Amy Adams lends a helping hand while Miss Natalie Land, nurse, oversees the "operation."

Mr. Elbert Ashby was Trade and Industrial Co-ordinator of night classes. Scheduling classes is just one of his many jobs as head of the evening school.

Mrs. Katherine Long, librarian, maintains our library in smooth, efficient order and keeps the shelves well stocked with books to appeal to every interest.

Keeping our school in top shape are Jay Farrell, head custodian; William Faught, Lee Graf, Randall Davis, and Nelson White.

Running the school cafeteria is a big job requiring efficient people. These women who keep the wheels turning are Lorena Norrington, Dorothy Owen, Sophy Baumgartner, Valada Cusher, Evelyn Koch, Helen Dupin, Trilby Gardner, Bertha Kuhlenschmidt, Margaret Lehman, Irma Bippus, Elva Besing, Irene Mayes, Irene Hawkins, Estella Althoff, Alpha Schroer, and Betty Hayden.

Seated on the couch are Opal Barclay, Virginia West, Nellie Beaven, Eloise Perry, Lemma Loyce Petkoff, Evelyn Egbert, and Lucille Lanier who work daily to keep our school clean and in good condition.

We Will Remember Our Advertisers

Both Old And New

During our years in high school we were partners of sorts with the businessmen of our community, who were always ready to extend to us their patronage. On our part, we influenced what the family dollar bought, and we earned and spent a substantial amount of our own money.

The response of the merchants was to recognize our buying power by advertising in this book, as well as in many issues of THE NORTH STAR. The partnership grows as we acknowledge their interest, visit their business establishments, and recommend them to our families.

As we prepare for the future, we will remember these merchants for their generosity in our endeavors and their wisdom in seeing us as buyers, present and potential.
